OPPOSED TO GREATER NEW-YORK.

TAXATION LEAGUE CALLS ON THE MAYOR. Cyrus Clark, Colonel William E. Rogers, A. R. Conkling, Jacob Rothschild, R. H. Townsend, Benjamin F. Romaine, Augustus A. Leavey and John C.

De la Vergne went to see Mayor Strong yesterday, and talked in opposition to the Greater New-York bill. They represented the Anti-Equalization of Taxation League. Colonel William E. Rogers said that the league concurred in the views expressed by Corporation Counsel Scott, but that he wished to gall the Mayor's attention to an important fact that ed hitherto to have escaped notice-namely, that the tax rate on Manhattan Island would be increased, while on Long Island it would be greatly Brooklyn, he said, on an assessed valuation of i Brooklyn, he said, on an assessed valuation of to per cent had a tax of 2.62 for 1856, while on a 50 per cent assessment this city's rate was but $19 on the $100. The present bill would equalize the tax rate and increase this city's debt 26,000,000, while it would reduce Brooklyn's debt an equal sum. This, too, without considering the rest of the termitory sought to be annexed.

Mr. Conkling said that, so far as the league was concerned, it had not been heard by the Senate committee at its recent hearing, because the league did not have sufficient time to prepare its case. The Mayor said he would give all the people concerned a chance to talk when the bill reached him—if it over does.

The Hotehkiss Ordnance Company, the Driggs-Schroeder Ordnance Company, the Gatling Gun Company and a number of others are included in the new corporation. The Tribune's informant said that the purpose of the combination should not be misunderstood. It had been effected simply in order to place the American manufacturers on a competitive basis with foreign companies in South America and other countries where arms are bought. In this country, he added, there was no competition in prices, particularly between manufacturing firms, for the reason that each one had its own peculiar models of firearms and owned its own patents, amply protected. There was a rumor at Headquarters yesterday that the Commissioners were considering Captain Cross, of the Leonard-st station, as a candidate for inspector or deputy chief. There has been apposition to Captain Cross because of the charges made against him nearly two years ago, on which he was dismissed from the Department. He was accused of levying blackmail on keepers of disorderly houses in the Eleventh Precinct, but the courts reinstated him, and the Judges severely criticised the Police Commissioners for believing the testimony of the women who were witnesses against him. It is said now that the Commissioners are better disposed toward Captain Cross than formerly.

Notice to tenants has already been given, so it is expected that the demolition of the old building will soon be begun.

WORK OF BENEVOLENT SCHOOLS.

ADDRESSES BY CHARLES LORING BRACE AND DR.

Industrial and Benevolent Schools in New-York" was the subject before the Public Education Association at its weekly meeting in the hall of the United Charities Building yesterday afternoon. The lecture was delivered by Charles Loring Brace, secretary of the Children's Aid Society.

"The greatest danger to humanity," said Mr. Brace, "occurs between the ages of five and fourteen The children of shiftless and ignorant parents cannot be forcibly removed from the contamination of vice and crime in which they live, but our effort is to overcome this so far as possible without The problem is most difficult in New-York, because of the density of the tenement-house population."

Mr. Brace then reviewed the principal districts in the city where the lower classes of Russian and Austrian Hebrews, Italians, Hungarians and other foreigners, nearly all living in extreme ignorance and poverty, are congregated. There were great numbers of children, he said, for whom there was not room in the public schools, and to reach this class was the aim of the Children's Aid and Female Guardian societies. Fersons were appointed to visit the homes and influence the parents to permit their children to attend regularly at the schools of these organizations.

children to attend regularly at the schools of these organizations.

"It is forty-two years," said Mr. Brace, "since the first benevolent school was established here. Now there are thirty-five such schools, which benefit annually about 20,000 children. The evening schools are an important branch of the work. They are for the older children and young girls who are obliged to work during the day. Besides the ordinary branches, dressmaking, cooking, typewriting and laundry-work are taught."

Dr. H. C. Houghton, of the Advisory Board of the Femsle Guardian Society, spoke briefly upon the necessity, in his opinion, of having the penevolent school modelled upon industrial lines. He thought that many of the features of the benevolent schools of Parls might be imitated here with much benefit.
